500 MILES BELGIAN SOIL FREE

(International News Service.)
London, Sept. 29.—Announcement by British headquarters that correspondents would not be allowed to send any information today aroused much speculation as to the cause. One report was that Field Marshal Haig was planning a new move against the Germans and that correspondents would not be allowed to say anything about it until it was under way. The impetuous drive by the British on the West Flanders front earlier in the week has opened the road to Passchendaele. The official report issued by the war office at noon said there was nothing special to announce.

ALLIES NOW HOLD MUCH TERRITORY IN BELGIUM.
Paris, Sept. 29.—Nearly 500 miles of Belgian soil is now in possession of the allies as result of gains made this week. The battle line now extends in a southeasterly direction from Neuport to a point east of Zonnebeke and thence into France just west of Warneton.

GERMAN PAPERS BARRED FROM CROSSING BORDER.
(International News Service.)

(International News Service.)
Washington, Sept. 29.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, must show cause why he should not be expelled from the United States senate. A petition reciting alleged treasonable utterances by the senior senator from the Badger state reached the senate today. It was signed by the governor of Minnesota and members of the Minnesota public service commission and demanded that La Follette be removed from his high office. The petition was referred to the committee on rules and elections of the senate. Leaders made it plain that they considered the allegations contained in the petition most serious.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The source of the money which backed the I. W. He refused to disclose the source.

(International News Service.)
Chicago, Sept. 29.—I. W. There's a man out there who fights for you and the things that you hold true, there's a Cause Out There you're backing up with all that's best in you. Now here's a need of the Man Out There—a need you can easily fill—come, cram his pouch with the smokes he loves—kick in with a dollar bill. For it's not the crash of the heavy gun nor the train on the man who serves; it's the lagging smoke when it's smoking time that frazzles a soldier's nerves. Though there isn't much that we can do, back home safe out of the muck, we can sure send smokes and we'll do it, too—let them count on that from us.—Metropolitan.

EXEMPTION BOARD RECEIVES INSTRUCTIONS TO DISPATCH ADDITIONAL WHITE MEN TO CAMP PIKE, ARK., NEXT WEEK.

Atlanta, Sept. 29.—Latest advices from Washington state that negroes from Alabama and Tennessee have been ordered not to assemble until further notice.

Little Rock, Sept. 29.—Louisiana and Mississippi negroes will compose the only negro regiment which will train at Camp Pike, it is apparent from information received here today. These two states alone will send negroes in the next increment, beginning Oct. 3.

Morgan county men who have married since June 5 must serve in the new national army, providing they are within the ages of 21 to 31 years and have been called for service and have passed the physical examinations. Ruling to this effect has been made by the District Exemption Board in session at Huntsville. Jas. L. Draper, secretary of the county exemption board, visited Huntsville on yesterday, where he was apprised of the ruling. It was also announced by the district board that the claims of about 30 Morgan county men who have asked for exemption have been turned down. The names of these men have not yet been certified back to the district board, and for that reason they cannot yet be made public. The local board granted exemption to all married men who asked it.

More to Be Mobilized.
The county exemption board has been ordered to mobilize a second forty per cent contingent to entrain for Camp Pike on October 3. However, as the number of negro men accepted for service is to be deducted from the total, and as the names and number of the men denied exemption have not been certified, no definite idea can be given as to just how many will be included in the call. Secretary Draper will work on the lists today and by Monday will probably know definitely just who will go. He expressed the opinion today that probably sufficient white men were already available, counting those whose claims for exemption had been denied, to complete the quota. A fifteen per cent quota will go later, and most of these will come from the men who are to be examined next week.

MUCH REJOICING HERE AT SELECTION OF SHOALS

Recognized That Big Permanent Plant Will Follow and River Be Developed

(International News Service.)
Atlanta, Sept. 29.—Sheffield, Ala., East Chattanooga, Tenn., and Pulaski, Va., have been recommended as sites for an experimental nitrate and powder plant by the board of inspection headed by Col. Joyce, according to dispatches received here. The selection of one of these sites will be made by Secretary of War Baker, in whose hands the matter now rests. While the committee's recommendation favored Sheffield, the other two places were named as favorable locations.

There is much rejoicing in the Twin Cities at the action of the army engineers in recommending the location of the $3,000,000 experimental nitrate plant and the $1,000,000 powder mill at Sheffield, Ala., near Muscle Shoals. While both plants will be operated by steam, it is pointed out that $16,000,000 of the appropriation of $20,000,000 will remain, and that should the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen prove successful, the big plant will be built later on. Had the experimental plant gone elsewhere, the claims of Muscle Shoals would have probably been passed up. The two plants will be located on a site of 400 acres near Sheffield. When the permanent plant is erected, the Tennessee river will be made navigable all the year. Two or three dams will be built, the one just above the Florence bridge being 100 feet high. This will raise the level of the river here 9 feet. The larger plant will also furnish sufficient cheap electrical power to make feasible the manufacture of fertilizer at a greatly reduced cost, and in this way will prove a boon to the farmers of North Alabama and the entire South. A surplus of electrical current would turn the wheels of many factories and small and large industries. While the Tri-Cities will be the immediate beneficiaries from the location of the two smaller plants at Sheffield, it is evident that Albany and Decatur will indirectly profit in a financial way by the expenditure of so large a sum in North Alabama. "If the government spends $4,000,000 at Sheffield, we'll get half a million of it," was the expression of a local banker today.

(International News Service.)
Atlanta, Sept. 29.—The tropical hurricane sweeping inland from the Gulf has reached North Alabama and Georgia, destroying communication as it swept over the inland country and leaving points south of Montgomery cut off from the rest of the world. Up to the time communication was cut off there were no definite reports of loss of life.

The wind had reached 96 miles an hour at Mobile, 100 miles an hour at Pensacola, while traffic over the L. & N. in the neighborhood of Pass Christian, Miss., was stopped by the tide which swept over the tracks. Stories of isolated damage and destruction of houses and stores seeped in this morning over crippled wires. It will be several hours, however, and possibly days, before all the affected points can be reached.

MUSCLE SHOALS WINS A GREAT VICTORY.

Announcement that the inter-departmental board, composed of Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of the Interior Lane and Secretary of Agriculture Houston has recommended the location of the $2,000,000 experimental nitrate plant and the $1,000,000 government powder mill at Sheffield, Ala., is the most notable recognition that the Tennessee Valley has ever received. It marks the rapid and certain development of all North Alabama, the arrival of a new era of expansion and progress.

The location of the experimental nitrate plant at Sheffield is significant and presages the selection of Muscle Shoals as the site of the $20,000,000 permanent plant, in the event that the location of atmospheric nitrogen is proved to be practicable. There is but little doubt but that the processes now used extensively by the Germans will be improved by the skilled scientists of America, and that the larger industry, designed to free this nation from its dependence on the nitrate fields of Chile, will eventually be located on the Tennessee river.

The construction of the necessary dams will open the majestic stream to navigation, and within a decade the whole valley will be a teeming hive of industry.

Had the temporary plant been located at some point other than Sheffield, it is altogether within the range of probability that the permanent plant would also have gone to some other fortunate locality. Political pull, the human reluctance to relinquish an advantage, would have been factors that would hardly have been overcome. Under present conditions, with the reports of government engineers almost unanimously in favor of the Alabama site, only the most pessimistic can fail to expect the ultimate expenditure of the remaining $16,000,000 of the congressional appropriation in the harnessing of the Tennessee.

MUSCLE SHOALS GETS EXPERIMENTAL PLANT.

Muscle Shoals scores a partial victory in the report of army engineers that the government's experimental nitrate plant will be located at Sheffield.

Approximately $4,000,000 will be spent on the nitrate and power plants and it is reasonable to suppose that it is finally decided to build the $20,000,000 plant, as originally provided for, Muscle Shoals will be chosen as the site. At any rate, the report of army engineers, which has been presented to Secretary of War Baker and will be laid before the president, assures Muscle Shoals of the experimental plant, in itself no small undertaking which will bring prosperity to Sheffield, Florence, Tusculum and surrounding territory.

the experimental plant. The various organizations which have worked so faithfully for Muscle Shoals are to be congratulated. The experimental plant should lead to greater things and begin an era of development under government auspices, which will mean much to the South.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ALL HONOR IS DUE TO COL. WORTHINGTON.

The victory of Muscle Shoals in the long and hard fight for the government nitrate plant is due as much to the untiring efforts of one man as to the merit of the site. That man is Col. J. W. Worthington, of Sheffield. In season and out, for months and for years, this brilliant general has marshaled and led his forces in one assault after another. Baffled at first by the opposition to the development of waterways by individual enterprises, Col. Worthington shifted his tactics and made the fight for federal control. When the fruits of victory seemed to have been snatched out of his hands through the skilled manipulation of the Black Warrior crowd, he put on more steam and drove harder than ever for the goal. That he won is because he would not admit defeat. It would be appropriate if the Tennessee Valley should, at the proper time, pay him that just tribute which his modesty would forbid and which his merit warrants. A public celebration should be arranged in his honor.

NASHVILLE VINDICATED BY THURSDAY'S ELECTIONS.

Those who were wont to look askance at Nashville as a city ruled by a political machine, can see in the elections of Thursday a vindication of the city's good name and an evidence of a determination to drive the professional politician from power. Despite the lead that Hillary Howse, ousted mayor, had in the first primary, he was defeated in the run-off and his forces routed. This can mean but one thing—that the Athens of the South is now jealous of its good name and has reached the turning point in its development. No city can grow and expand that openly sanctions the rule of the ring, the manipulations of the corrupt and the dominance of banded vicious elements.

Some of Congressman Almon's critics held him entirely responsible for the apparent failure to locate the nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals. Now that the plant has been won, will they give him all the credit for turning the trick?

"SOULS ADRIFT" AT DELITE AND STAR THEATRES MONDAY

Elma Raybourne, chief character in the World-Picture Brady-Made, "Souls Adrift," is a young society girl who has broken off her engagement with a brilliant young inventor whom her father has robbed of the fruits of his invention. This character is played by charming Ethel Clayton. While on a trip in her father's yacht Elma finds that the second engineer is Micah Steele, her former fiancé. Shortly after this discovery there is an explosion in the hold of the vessel and the craft sinks rapidly. Elma is carried to a rowboat by Micah. In time they reach a desert island and there strange things occur—different from the things that are supposed to generally occur in cases of this character. Milton Sills appears as Micah Steele in this production and all the other members of the cast are brilliant film players. "Souls Adrift" will be the attraction at the Delite and Star theatres on Monday. Make it a point to see this picture as it is thoroughly delightful entertainment, pleasing throughout and leaving a good taste in the mouth.

This and That at Austinville

By L. N. BROCK

The public school opened Monday under very favorable conditions. Prof. Lawrence, of Cullman, as principal, Miss Natalie Phillips, of Tuscaloosa county, as first assistant, Miss Kate Beatty of Austinville, and Miss Schoer of Albany, make up the faculty so far. No contagious diseases have made their appearance. Last year the school was brought to an abrupt close in the early spring on account of measles and whooping cough. The people are delighted with the faculty and the prospect is good for some good work along educational lines.

Saturday night there will be a Sun-beam musical and literary entertainment at the Park. All are invited to come. Refreshments will be served.

A sad funeral was that on last Saturday of little Lilla Eugenia Justice, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Justice. She passed away Friday night at the Benevolent hospital, following an operation for appendicitis. The funeral was conducted by Rev. L. N. Brock, assisted by Rev. Neil.

The street force has done some fine work in the way of grading up our streets of late. Now, if the citizens will join hands and cut the hateful bitter weed from the sidewalks we may expect better health and a prettier town in which to live.

Booster Talk—Who and What

Albany-Decatur Daily:

The city of Albany is coming into her own among the liveliest and most wide awake towns of Alabama. She is gradually shaking loose from her old name and is rapidly coming to be known with her new name—as she never was with the old, and is destined to be one of the largest and best of North Alabama cities.

But it was not of Albany that I started out to write, but of the men who are making Albany, and as these men appear in that company of their representatives known as the "Boosters," for the Boosters were not all the men who are helping to build this city and make it one good to live in, but were men who represented those who were not fortunate enough to make the trips in person.

One of the first things I wish to mention is the marvelous change that has come over the country in the past few years. In the ideas and conduct of men on occasions like that of the Boosters trips. The trips on which I had the privilege of going were a real pleasure, and was made such by the splendid conduct of each and all of the large company of men. I did not see, smell nor hear of a single man having a drop of liquor, either in bottle or under his belt. Would it have been possible a few years ago to have said this of a company of men so large, gathered from all walks and businesses of a town this size? This fact is largely responsible for this other fact—the splendid gentlemanly bearing of every man at all times on these trips. A more jolly and gentlemanly; yea, brotherly set of men never went out on a trip of business and pleasure bent than the Boosters. The business of these men were not on a mission of "knocking" of any other towns, but of boosting their own. The spirit of the men was shown in the speeches made in the many smaller towns when the speakers always urged the people to trade with their local merchants when they could supply their needs.

The greatest good, however, as seen by one of the "small fry" of the company was not "out yonder," but "in here"—that is at home. The spirit of fraternity, co-operation and general fellowship among the men of our town is worth all the expense of the trips.

I would like to mention many names of those who helped so largely to make these trips both a pleasure and success, but they are too numerous, and this article is already too long.

One who went and watched, J. C. PERSINGER.

GIVE YOUR HEIFERS A CHANCE

By J. P. Quinley, Agent in Dairying.

Presented by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala. I want to call attention to what is probably the biggest and most general mistake dairymen are making in Alabama. I have seen it in all parts of the State.

We are allowing our heifers to breed too young. As a result they often drop calves before they are old enough to be bred and always earlier than is permissible for best results. Such heifers become stunted and the result is small delicate cows with little constitution, small capacity and less ability to produce milk. Generations of such practices have been responsible for the very small size of our native sows. A heifer cannot develop into a good cow if she is carrying a foetus and producing milk from feed that ought to be used entirely for body growth.

While in the dairy districts of Ohio recently, the thing that impressed me most was the size and capacity of the cows. We saw herd after herd of Jerseys that averaged from 900 to 1000 pounds in weight and 320 pounds of butter fat per year! I asked those dairymen how they got such wonderful cows. They replied: "Feed the heifers well, keep them growing, and do not breed them to freshen at less than thirty months of age." I didn't see a single pasture with the bull running with the cows and heifers. As a rule the heifers are kept in a separate pasture and always the bull has a lot to himself. I noticed that those Ohio dairymen were more particular about giving their heifers the best chance to develop and not allowing them to breed too young than almost any other dairy practice. And well they might be, for it is fundamental. Do you not realize that your heifers of today will in a short time be the cows of your herd?

A heifer is made or ruined during the first eighteen months of her life. She should be fed liberally. Feed skim milk a year if she is a valuable heifer. Never cut it out at less than six or eight months. Feed oats and corn in such quantities as she will clean up. Always have hay in her reach. It will insure a large spring of rib and big barrel capacity. Only such a cow can eat enough feed to produce much milk. Provide good grazing, and DON'T LET A BULL OF ANK KIND RUN WITH HER. Some heifers will breed when less than six months old. I saw one the other day, fifteen months old, with a calf at her side. She will no more make a profitable cow than will the colt make a valuable horse if put to work as a yearling.

Our only chance to get good cows is to raise them from our native cows, using bulls bred for production. But no matter how good the bull nor how promising the calf, the cow will not be worth while unless the heifer is properly developed. Start with the heifer as a calf. Never allow it to lose its baby fat. A case of scours will usually stunt a calf for life. By all means don't allow her to breed under eighteen or twenty months of age. Try this plan once and you will be surprised how much more profitable your cows will be. Write the U. S. Department of Agriculture for Bulletin 77, which tells how to raise dairy calves.

Comfort and economy make happy homes. You get both using Cole's Hot Blast Heaters.

DIZZY SPELLS

Relieved After Taking Two Bottles Of Cardui, Says Tennessee Lady.

Whitwell, Tenn.—Mrs. G. P. Cartwright, of this place, writes: "About four years ago the dizzy spells got so bad that when I would start to walk I would just pretty near fall. I wasn't past doing my work, but was very much run-down."

I told my husband I thought Cardui would help me, as a lady who lived next door to me had taken a great deal, and told me to try it. This was when we were living in Kentucky.

My husband got me a bottle and I took it according to directions. It helped me so much that he went back and got me another bottle. I got a whole lot better and just quit taking it. I got over the dizzy spells. I took no other medicine at that time nor since for this trouble. No, I've never regretted taking Cardui.

I felt just fine when I finished the second bottle.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH AND EVERY OTHER DAY

BY OBSERVER.

There are two kinds of attachments—the comradeship of high adventure and the others. The lowest form among the "others" was that of the chief priests and Judas. The one betrayed religion, the other his Lord. These were friends attached by love, power and money. How they must have despised each other! The Turk and the Kaiser's present betrayal of civilization is another such low attachment. It will not last. "Their covenant with hell shall be broken," B. Arnold and the English once got friendly so as to dispose of America's freedom. But this proved to be a futile and hateful attachment. Years later an English Lord stood up in parliament, but on spring Arnold stormed. "Put that traitor out or I will not speak." Today, now that Columbia is in a death struggle, there are copperheaded Arnolds in the land, and shame of shames they do not all bear foreign names. If the word of the most patriotic is followed, La Follette will be expelled from the United States senate.

Once removed from this class of attachment is built on harmless Herod and Pontius Pilate. "And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together"—Luke 23:12. That is the day they mutually agreed to the crucifixion of the Savior. What a dastardly bond of mock fellowship! And yet we see the same thing every day—people getting friendly over the character killing they do among themselves, against the best intentioned of their fellows. A man said recently that President Wilson was as low down as the Kaiser; another said the Kaiser was as much to be trusted as the Pope. A fine kind of conversation to build friendship on, to be sure! No wonder the old idea of a hot hell for such people persists in spite of the fierce drives of the higher critics against such a doctrine. Another kind of attachment is built on harmless gossip. If there is such a thing as "thick as thieves" reminds us that quite a considerable attachment exists between those who get something for nothing. A case in point was the near-election this week of Hillary Howse as mayor of Nashville, after he had been officially declared unfit for mayor by the highest judicial tribunal of his state. And there were men in this section who wanted Mr. Howse elected because, as they said, "He

ALABAMA.

Alabama, Alabama.
We will aye be true to thee,
From thy Southern shore where growth,
By the sea thine orange tree.
To thy Northern vale where floweth,
Deep and blue thy Tennessee,
Alabama, Alabama,
We will aye be true to thee!

Broad the stream whose name thou bearest;
Grand thy Higbee rolls along;
Fair thy Coosa—Tallapoosa;
Bold thy Warrior, dark and strong;
Godlier than the land that Moses Climbed lone Nebo's Mount to see,
Alabama, Alabama,
We will aye be true to thee!

From thy prairies broad and fertile,
Where the snow-white cotton shines,
To the hills where coal and iron Hide in thine exhaustless mines,
Strong-armed miners—sturdy farmers;
Loyal hearts whate'er we be,
Alabama, Alabama,
We will aye be true to thee!

ANOTHER SPRING.

Flowers bloom and south winds sing
Clouds sweep high, the air is sweet,
Hills are gray in robes of green
Winter's fled in quick retreat,
But, way back behind the years,
Sleeps a spring of long ago
You and I, and birds and buds,
Were together, and we know
How the gentle mother earth
Looked on us with mother pride
How we rested on her breast
By the stream where lilies hide.
So, the Maytime brings a pain,
Brings to me another day
You were here, you, who are gone,
Gone, where days are always May.
Unforgetting heart, be still
Call not to that spring that's gone,
Gone from me, yet with me now.
With me, till all springs are done.
—Montgomery Advertiser.

A Star's Light Year.

A star's light year means the length of time as measured by our years that a particular star's light takes in reaching the earth. Light travels at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second, yet even at that speed some of the fixed stars are so distant from the earth that it takes their light several years to reach us. The sun is 93,000,000 miles from the earth and its light reaches in less than nine minutes, but the light from Sirius, sometimes called the Dog star, is eight years in reaching us. The Pole star or North star, has a 45 light year, that is, its light is 45 years in reaching the earth. If one of these inconceivably distant fixed stars should be blotted out of existence tonight we should continue to see it for years to come from its rays of light already on their way to the earth.

Big Food Crops.

It looks as if nobody in the world need lack for something to eat next year, if the crop promise of the United States for the coming harvest is fulfilled. According to the forecast of the department of agriculture, food crops this season will be greater by a billion bushels than last year. This does not take into account the thousands of home gardens that will produce their millions of bushels of potatoes and other vegetables. The government's crop report is probably the severest blow that has been struck at Prussianism in several days, at least. —Christian Science Monitor.

If the only test of good shoes was an outward appearance there would be little reason for care in choosing.

SINCE HOWEVER this is no way to select shoes for service, judgement and discretion must be exercised or failure will be your lot.

Years of experience have proven to us that the only way to get good service from shoes is in the first place to get good shoes. When you have done this you have a right to look for good service from them.

It's Worth a thought

First, think of the best malaria medicine you ever used—then think how much better it would have been if it had been pleasant to take, mildly laxative, and had contained the digestive properties of pure Pepsin and the tonic and blood-building properties of Iron—then you'll understand pretty well just what kind of a tonic "QUINOTONE" is.

It makes no difference what form of malaria you suffer with—QUINOTONE is guaranteed to help you. ## WORLEY PLEASED WITH CAMP LIFE

WRITES THE DAILY THAT FEELS MUCH BETTER FROM PHYSICAL EXERCISE.

Floyd Worley, fourth and last of the Worley boys to enter the service of his country, has written the Daily from Camp Pike, Ark., as follows: Editor Albany-Decatur Daily:

As I am so well satisfied I thought I would write and tell you, and you can tell the boys that are yet to come, not to dread it the least bit, as every boy from Albany or Morgan county seems to be very well satisfied. At least I am myself. I think the physical exercise is the best thing in the world for a man's health. I feel so much better in the mornings after taking my exercise.

I have advanced to a chief section leader since I have been here, and I am doing my best for something better. The boys of Morgan county send their best to all.

Very truly,

FLOYD WORLEY,

Battery C, 334th Field Artillery.

FEW REAL BOOK STORES HERE

Count Tolstoy Struck by Lack of Opportunities for Obtaining Good Literature in United States.

In my country, as in the other parts of Europe, nobody need have any difficulty in finding book stores in small towns or in large cities. Count Ilya Tolstoy writes in the Century magazine. Here one can find a cigar store, a drug store, all kinds of shops where luxuries can be purchased, but the getting of a bookshop is often a very hard quest. Even in New York it is hard to find a real book store, where the attendants know their authors and can help one select the books that one needs on any subject. There are some, but none too many. They can be counted on the fingers of one's hands.

In smaller cities the task of finding books is a hopeless one. There are a few stores where books are sold; but what books? Novels mostly, the average ephemeral romance; magazines with too many ill-conceived articles containing little upbuilding criticism of public life, much ill-digested information, and newspapers which afford little of intellectual value, being mostly mediums of advertising. American literature is yet poor. The good magazines are few compared with European reviews. The inheritance of mankind, the universal literature, is hardly known here. There are translations in sets, richly bound, but cheaply produced, and too often done by hack writers, who do not even understand what they translate. They are bad translations, as a rule, but costly. Poor people are not able to buy them. Even in Russia, in the country which Americans think uncivilized, we have translations of all the world's great writers. These editions are appropriate to the means of the people. They can be bought for prices from 1 to 5 cents. It is the same in England. The result here is that the people read only newspapers and magazines. In Russia for the same price we can build a library of great books. The best works of Pushkin, Dickens, Shakespeare, Dante, Cervantes, Goethe, Tolstoy, Heine, Victor Hugo and countless others are at the disposal of the poorest.

ECONOMY WITH GAS STOVE

Woman Tells How She Saved Money by Making Plans Ahead for Her Baking Day

A woman has written in to the Woman's Home Companion about her gas stove and she says:

"The idea of telling other women how to economize time and money in the use of my gas stove came to me on hearing a young housekeeper tell about baking a pudding, or just one thing, in a gas oven as large as my own, which struck me as amazingly extravagant," writes a woman in the Woman's Home Companion.

"When planning to have a baking day with the oven, I set down the day before and think out just what is needed for several meals ahead which must be cooked. For instance, I place a roast in a pan just barely large enough to hold it, thus economizing on space as well. Then, if possible, I cover the roast with a pan which can be made to sit quite level, into which I put several potatoes; or, if this arrangement isn't practicable, I put the potatoes on the grate. Beside the roast I place a small pudding dish containing a bread pudding, on a small asbestos mat beside the pudding dish a small pan of biscuits. A vegetable may sometimes be baked in a napkin with all these things as well.

"The following, all of which I have tested, will be found good combinations for any baking day:

"A meat loaf, covered, in a bread pan; escalloped tomatoes in a pudding dish; a pan of corn gems. Time about an hour. Baked potatoes may be crowded in almost always.

"Roast chicken in small cake tin; sweet potatoes peeled and sliced, seasoned and covered with milk in pudding dish; macaroni and cheese in a bread tin. Time about one and one-half hours, oven moderate."

Take Quinotone and feel better.

Who's Who in the World's Series

By Jack Veiock
(International News Service.)

JOSEPH BENZ,
(White Sox Pitcher.)

Joe Benz is a brother pitcher of Reb Russell, the sensational White Sox southpaw, and also a brother-in-law of Russell, but in point of service he is somewhat of a veteran, for he is now serving his seventh year as a member of Comiskey's hurling corps.

Benz graduated to the major leagues from Des Moines, where he was developed by Frank Isbell, the old Bald Eagle of the White Sox of other days. Izzy secured Benz from the Decatur club of the Three-I League, and though Joe was never rated as a world-beater in the Western League, Isbell thought so well of him that he persuaded Comiskey to take him on.

During his first three years with the Sox, Benz failed to win as good as .500 per cent of his games. He was always capable of working hard, however, and he saved many a game for the Sox during the seasons of 1912 and 1913.

Within the past four years the big Teuton slabber has been doing better work. His best year was in 1915, when he won fifteen and lost ten games. He was born at New Albany, Ind., in 1887, and played his first season in organized ball with the Clarkburg club in the Western Pennsylvania League. He is a big pitcher, standing six feet one inch in height and weighing 200 pounds. He has plenty of speed and when he is right opposing batsmen often hunt the bucket, rather than take a chance of colliding with one of his fast benders over the inside corners.

MELDON WOLFGANG,
(White Sox Pitcher.)

Mel Wolfgang has been pitching professional ball for ten years, and like Benz, he was prepped for the majors by a Western League club, though he had received several trials in the big show before coming up to stay.

He started pitching professionally with Albany, in the New York State League, in 1908. In 1910 he was given a trial by the Boston Braves and turned over to Lowell in the New England League, for more seasoning. In the spring of 1912 the St. Louis Browns took Wolfgang south on their training trip, but once more he was turned back. With the Lowell club he won twenty-two games and lost but twelve during the 1912 season, and prior to the opening of the drafting season Lowell sold him to the White Sox. After a trial with Chicago he was released to Denver under an optional agreement, and in the Mile-High City, under Jack Hendricks he made good. Since 1914 he has been with the Chicago club, and although he has seen service in but few games each year, Rowland is holding onto him.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO "GET" HEFLIN WILL BE MADE

(International News Service.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Dissatisfied with the action of the rules committee in urging that the charges against Representative Hefflin for his charges on the membership of congress be dropped, a large element in the house today was planning some new move against the Alabama representative. They are expected to demand that the house rebuke Mr. Hefflin for his unproven charges.

The fight between Hefflin and Representative Norton yesterday brought the question to fever heat again.

Hasty adjournment of the house at 2 o'clock prevented forcing a showdown on the charges of Representative Hefflin. However, leaders who are making the fight against Hefflin declared they would re-open the issue Monday.

HURRICANE CUTS THROUGH ALABAMA

MONTGOMERY HAS HEAVIEST RAINFALL IN YEARS.

Montgomery, Sept. 29.—One thousand five hundred telephones are out of business as the result of heavy winds and rains which have lasted without interruption for 36 hours. The downpour started Thursday afternoon. The rainfall is the greatest in 40 years for September in this district. With one exception, no trains are operating to the south. Street car traffic is tied up.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE
IN NORTHERN ALABAMA.
(International News Service.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Gulf hurricane is moving northeastward today with a decreased velocity, according to reports reaching the weather bureau. Much damage was done to property in North Alabama. However, weather bureau dispatches carried no estimates of the damage nor made any mention of loss of life.

FEAR FOR SAFETY OF
FOUR SMALL VESSELS.
(International News Service.)

Biloxi, Sept. 29.—Fears for the safety of the captains and crews of four schooners and one power boat which were out in the Louisiana marshes during the hurricane are being expressed here today. The power boat Lusitania is making a search for the missing boats.

REDTOP

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Redtop has a wide range of adaptability of soil and climate. However, it is best adapted to low, moist lands, and does fairly well even on rather poor land of this type. Soil for this plant does not require liming. In fact, redtop can endure a considerable amount of acidity.

The most important use of redtop is as a part of permanent pasture mixtures. It combines well with lespedeza and white clover to form permanent pastures on rather moist soils. Redtop is sometimes used for hay in the northern part of Alabama, but is only fairly palatable.

Ten to fifteen pounds of re-cleaned seed should be planted per acre in early fall. The seed need only light covering. Successful seedlings are sometimes made by sowing broadcast, allowing the rains to cover the seed, but this practice is not to be generally recommended.

Redtop grows rather slowly the first year. It is well to fertilize the crop on poor soils.

Don't Be Obstinate.

It is surprising how many people do not know the difference between obstinacy and firmness. Some persons feel uncomfortable over standing by their principles, for fear some one will think them obstinate, and others pride themselves on never making a concession to please anyone, and imagine they are beautifully firm. It is quite important to get the difference quite clear in your own mind, since firmness is one of the most necessary virtues, and obstinacy one of the most serious faults.—Exchange.
